Bio-Engineered Supplements & Nutrition, Inc. ("BSN") announced its sale to Glanbia plc, a leading international producer and marketer of dairy-based and nutritional products, which include Optimum Nutrition.

Founded in 2001 and headquartered in Boca Raton, Florida, BSN is a leading provider of high-quality branded sports nutrition products. The Company develops and manufactures a comprehensive line of products sold in over 90 countries under admired brand names, including N.O.-Xplode™, Syntha-6™, CellMass®, Endorush®, and many more, which are distributed primarily in specialty retail and drug stores.

Tracing its roots back to 1964 and headquartered in Ireland, Glanbia plc is an international nutritional ingredients and cheese group. Glanbia has over 4,300 employees in 15 countries, and operates through three business segments: US Cheese & Global Nutritionals, Dairy Ireland, and Other Business. Glanbia provides a comprehensive line of sports nutrition products through its wholly owned subsidiary, Optimum Nutrition.

The acquisition of BSN will provide Glanbia with one of the most well-recognized and effective sports nutrition product lines in the supplement industry on a global level.
