2011

Hanjer successfully raised approximately USD 35 million from L&T Infrastructure Finance as a mezzanine capital/ structure debt to fuel its growth plans.

Founded in 2005, Hanjer is India's largest player in the Municipal Solid Waste ('MSW') processing sector with 11,500 TPD (8,150 TPD operational and 3,350 TPD under implementation) of agreements in place. It is the only company in India with commercialized technology to segregate wet waste from dry waste.

The deal will facilitate Hanjer's increasing its capacity from 9,600 TPD to 14,600 TPD. This would enable Hanjer to further consolidate its leadership position in the MSW processing segment

Clairfield Partners in India (Equirus Capital) was the exclusive financial advisor to Hanjer.
