2011

Olivotto Industries S.p.A. sold 100% of Olivotto Glass Technologies S.p.A. to the Italian private equity fund Star Capital, for an enterprise value of EUR 16.4 million.

Olivotto Glass Technologies is an engineering company specializing in the production of machines and plants for the manufacturing of hollow glass items such as tableware and special hollow glassware (light bulbs, glass tubes, vials, laboratory wares, glass bricks, etc.). OGT has two international subsidiaries: Lynch Technologies LLC, an American competitor acquired in 2007 and active in the supplying of hollow glass spare parts, technical assistance, revamping and retrofitting; and Olimerk Plc, a Turkish joint-venture established in 2009 in order to delocalize the purchasing of mechanical parts and components.

Olivotto Industries is owned by Giulio Napoli (60%) and the Italian private equity fund Cape Natixis.
