2010

The investment arm of intuitucapital acquired 100% of Energie 5 Méditerranée (E5 Med).

E5 Med, a French company based in Avignon, specializes in high-end photovoltaic equipment for individual homes and businesses, primarily in the south of France.

E5 Med is both a distributor (sourcing) and installer of solar panels designed for roof integration. It distributes top-quality European equipment (including products by the German company Schüco, an industry leader in solar panel technologies). The company also acts as a complete service provider, offering technical engineering, installation, and administrative services to its clients including managing the financing, subsidies, connection to the grid, and contracts with the local utilities company.

Clairfield Partners in France (intuitu) originated and advised the transaction.
