Private shareholders have sold Laboratoires Suppo-Steril ("LSS") to Ercé Plasturgie.

Laboratoires Suppo-Steril is a French manufacturer of primary packaging for the medical sectors. With two production sites in Paris region, LSS markets liquid and solid dosing and drug delivery systems under the Homeo-Technic brand to major pharmaceutical groups such as Nattermann (Sanofi-aventis), Boiron, Cooper, Famar....

Ercé Plasturgie, family-owned company located near Oyonnax in the French Plastics Valley (Rhône-Alpes region), is specialized in technopolymer plastic injection. The group manufactures components for 3 main markets: automotive (fuels system, engine cooling fan...), industry (home automation solutions and renewable energies) and medical (diagnostic consumables, medical devices and liquid silicon rubber).

Clairfield Partners in France (intuitu) acted as the exclusive financial advisor to the sellers.
